A Christmas message from the desk of

Julie Della
Managing Director

2007 flashed passed even faster than 2006 and People In Property Recruitment Group enjoyed every moment of this very exciting year!

We are proud to have accomplished as a team, the launch of People In Property Recruitment Group – Dubai in February and the relocation of our Perth office to 174 Roe Street, Northbridge in September.

We also undertook a new corporate company logo and re-branding of our specialist Property Divisions.

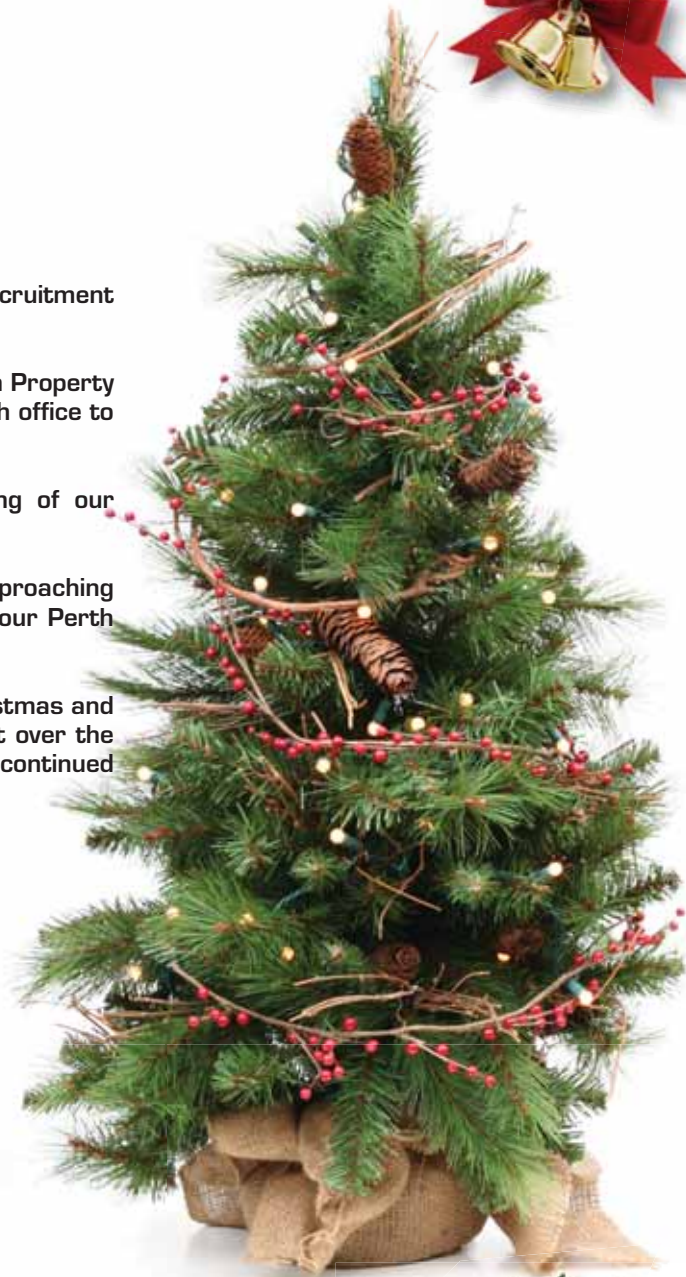

We look forward to celebrating our 10th Anniversary in 2008. The approaching new year is already promising to be another fantastic year for both our Perth and Dubai Offices.

May we take this opportunity to wish all our clients a very merry Christmas and a prosperous New Year and to thank everyone for their loyal support over the past year. In a very competitive market, we are appreciative of the continued recommendation of People in Property Recruitment Group's services.

A Very BIG Thankyou

May you and your family have a safe and happy holiday season.

With very warm regards,
The Management & Staff
People in Property Recruitment Group.

The “Write” Way To Get A Job By Matt Sun

- Job seekers who send potential employers a handwritten thank you note after an interview are more likely to be hired, a survey of bosses found.
- A recruitment firm survey found 88 per cent of managers would think more highly of candidates who took the time to write a note after an interview.
- But less than half of job seekers make any effort to follow up any job interview. The rest prefer to wait until they receive a formal yes or no response from the potential employer.
- Bosses said notes could go a long way to correcting any nervousness or negative impressions formed during an interview.
- Sending a short thank you note afterwards demonstrates “initiative and courtesy”.
- Conveying appreciation in a well-written message is not only polite, it can distinguish a job applicant from others vying for the same position.
- The current skills shortage has given a slight advantage to job candidates over employers. But despite this shortage, managers will still favour candidates who are both professionally and personally right for the job.
- Many workplaces now regard a good office vibe as being just as important as being productive, meaning rude workers are less likely to be hired.
- Place yourself in the position of a hiring manager, they have met a number of impressive and qualified candidates, an articulate follow-up message not only reminds them of who you are, but also conveys continued interest in the role and can act to strengthen your application.
- The notes should be short, only a few paragraphs in length, and express appreciation for being considered for the job, reinforce interest in the job and the value and experience you would bring to the company.

Special Events!

Spring In The Valley 2007

A fun day had by all. The "theme" was "green"
We look forward to the Bimba Bus next year!

Property Council Of Australia W.A. Division – Members Lunch

Friday, 19th October 2007

A large contingent of Perth's property industry professionals attended the Burswood Convention Centre to hear guest speakers Phil Ragan and Leon Boyatzis speak to delegates in regards to the Property Funds Management Revolution. No doubt, due to the location of the lunch, many guests who would diligently return to their offices decided that the allure of Burswood Casino was too overwhelming!

Property Council Of Australia Charity Ball

Friday, 2nd November 2007

Once again we had the opportunity to attend another gala event held by the Property Council Of Australia.

A fantastic evening was enjoyed by all.

Melbourne Cup

A quick bite to eat in Northbridge, followed by
"THE RACE THAT STOPS A NATION."

A lovely afternoon was enjoyed and congratulations to Katie, Julie & Peter who "stole" 1st, 2nd & 3rd prize in all 3 sweepstakes!
